VENETIAN CARNIVAL HUGE SUCCESS

NIGHT IS PERFECT; LARGE THROG ENJOYS FETE

"The Return of Spring," a dance performed by a number of the younger members of the smart set at the Venetian carnival Saturday night.

Never has Honolulu had a more beautiful open air festival than that held Saturday night at the Outrigger Club. The Venetian carnival was truly a success, spelled with a capital letter. To begin with, the night was perfect. A big silvery moon shone out of a cloudless sky, with just such a tropical zephyr as might be whispering in sunny Italy on an October evening. The setting of the carnival was perfect. Thousands of red lanterns surrounded the miniature Venice, casting their gleaming reflections into the still black waters of the lagoon. Gaily lighted gondolas drifted back and forth in the "canal streets" indolently propelled by laughing gondoliers. Gaudy booths were filled with delectable wares of the kinds best suited to tempt the appetite and the pocketbook of man. What more delicious than the candies homemade or cold lemonade, unless it be the ice-cream with truly cream and punch—whisper it low—to warm the heart. A graceful Italian stage backed by the standard bearers of royal Venice had been erected across the lagoon. And presently, when all the other lights had been dimmed, this was illuminated and played upon by a huge searchlight. Here the dances took place, most of which were so enthusiastically received as to make an encore necessary. Such graceful dances as they were, unique and well executed. Two of them—considered by some the two best on the program—were conceived and drilled by two of the dancers themselves. To L. Young Carruthers is due the credit of the Shepherd's Dance, which was originated and brought into shape by himself. Nothing could have been more graceful or more unusual than the Arcadian dance. The Pas a Trois was devised and trained by Miss Nora Swamy, and, full of quaint grace and amusing suggestions as it was, justifiably brought down the house. The Return of Spring was another delightful little sketch, charmingly danced by ten graceful nymphs, with Miss Swamy as premier danseuse. The Country Dance and Pavanne were again out of the ordinary, and splendidly executed by the clever youths and maidens who took part. Great credit is due Mrs. Mary Gunn for the skillful way in which she trained these beautiful dances. General dancing in the pavilion filled the remainder of the evening.

That the entertainment was such a success was due to the efforts of Mrs. F. M. Swamy. Mrs. A. J. Campbell was responsible for the wonderful scenic effect, the enormous amount of work involved being more than justified by the splendid results. Mr. Charles Wilder, as part of the decoration committee under Mrs. Campbell, had charge of the gondolas and lagoon. Each of the members of the various committees worked hard and tirelessly and deserve untold credit for their charming and original booths, all of which went far toward making the scene as romantic and beautiful a one as has ever been seen in Honolulu.

OPERA HOUSE

With the Opera House in gala array, elaborately bedecked with flags and pennants, "Going Some" will be presented by Virginia Brissac and the World's Fair Stock Company. Between acts members of the Honolulu Club and perhaps Sylvia Pankhurst will do special stunts. "Going Some" by Paul Armstrong and Rex Beach, is said to be one of the best western comedies ever written. It is full of the vim and vigor of western life and void of the whooping, tearing, blood and thunder villain. The plot for the comedy is built around a marathon race between The Flying Heart and the Centipede ranches in New Mexico. The boys of the Flying Heart have lost their pet phonograph in one race, and with the first act are in search of someone who will win it back for them. Just as they are about to give up in despair, J. Wallingford Speed, a young college chap, arrives up the scene, and after much persuasion promises to win the next race for them. Most of the boys trust the young chap, though a few doubtful ones threaten to kill him if he does not accomplish what

TPYOS' ANNUAL PICNIC PROVES LARGE EVENT

La Belle Moanaloa was the scene of joyous festivity from sunrise to sunset yesterday when the members of Honolulu Typographical Union No. 37, and more than 500 invited guests, gathered to participate in the annual basket picnic. Perfect weather conditions favored the occasion, and something in the way of fun was doing from the time the first bus load of guests arrived until it grew dark. Everybody brought their own lunches, and at noon those present gathered under the shade of the trees and partook of a tempting repast.

One of the most interesting features of the day took place when the Giants and the Athletics stalked out on an improvised diamond and battled in a fast and furious nine-inning game which resulted in a walk-away for the latter by a score of 4 to 0. The first three innings saw clever work on the part of the Athletics, and from then on nothing was doing until the ninth when the Giants braced up, but were unable to get in a run. The line-ups were as follows: Giants—B. Bishop, c; Ernest Aguilar, p; B. Jordan, ss; M. Blaho, 1b; Smith, cf; Ham (capt.), lf; Akana, rf; Hendrikson, 3b; Kaval, 2b. Goetz, batted for Ham in the ninth; Cooper batted for Akana in the ninth.

Athletics—Hill, c; J. Bishop, 1b; J. Gomes, Jr., 3b; Fernandez, p; L. Scott, rf; Aylett, ss; Gus Gomes, 2b; A. Eakin, cf; Poldipala, lf. Farrington batted for Scott.

A large number of typos were brought up before a kangaroo court and tried and fined for past unforgivable offenses. Wallace R. Farrington acted as the judge, and the coroner of policemen brought offenders before the tribunal as fast as they could bring them in. In spite of the eloquent pleadings of hastily secured attorneys, no printer was allowed to go free, for the forceful warble of the prosecuting attorney prevailed more upon the judge and jury than did that of the lawyers. The races were run in the afternoon, the results being as follows:

Twenty-five yard race for girls under 10 years—Won by Margaret Ham. Prize, box of candy.

Thirty-five yard race for girls over 10 and under 16—Won by Elsie Bushnell. Prize, box of candy.

Sack race—Won by George Bushnell and H. T. Zerbe; prize, two months' subscription to the Advertiser.

Needle and thread race—Won by H. T. Zerbe and Mrs. Wallwork.

Potato race—Won by Ernest Aguilar. Prize, two months' subscription to Inland Printer.

Hundred-yard race—Won by M. E. Gomes Jr. Prize, two months' subscription to Star-Bulletin.

Hundred-yard race for boys—Won by Adolph Medeiros. Prize, ticket to theater.

Fifty-yard race for girls, free for all—Won by Elsie Bushnell. Prize, ticket to theater.

Pie-eating contest for boys—Won by Theodore Lewis.

he has promised. There are several pretty romances running through the play in which Virginia Brissac, Evelyn Hamby, Mabel Wyman, John Wray, James Dillon and Ray Hanford take part. Miss Brissac and Miss Hamby do the parts of two city girls in the west on a vacation, and Miss Wyman handles the role of a Mexican flirt. John Wray plays J. Wallingford, the runner for the Flying Heart, James Dillon, Berley Fresno, a young chap with inclinations towards being feminine, and Ray Hanford is the Mexican track man for the Centipedes.
